++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Very strong and disruptive winds with outbreaks of rain.

This Evening and Tonight:
Storm Arwen brings strengthening winds, with severe gales along coasts and over high ground overnight. Outbreaks of rain spread southwards through the night, potentially falling as snow mainly over high ground. Feeling cold with the risk of frost. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Saturday:
Rain and snow clearing to leave an afternoon of sunny spells and scattered showers along western coasts. Feeling cold owing to significant wind chill in strong and gusty northerly winds. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
A frosty start to Sunday with further showers in the west, but much lighter winds. Turning cloudier and less cold through Monday and into Tuesday with light rain at times.
